

CLAIMS

What is claimed is:

1. A method for presenting a first language and a second language, for a plurality of things, including the steps of:

providing a series of video images of said things with an audiovisual device;

providing an audio depiction, in said first language, of a word corresponding to the thing in said video image while providing, as part of said video image;

subsequently, providing an audio depiction, in said second language, of a word corresponding to the thing in said video image while providing, as part of said video image;

during said steps of providing an audio depiction, providing a video depiction of the spelling of said word in said first language and in said second language; and

providing printed material which includes images of said things, said spelling of said word in said first language and said spelling of said word in said second language.

2. The method of presenting a first language and a second language of Claim 1, wherein said first language and said second language are presented with equal emphasis so that either said first language or said second language can be taught by said method.

3. The method of presenting a first language and a second language of Claim 2 wherein said step of providing a series of video images further provides a video image of a single thing which continues during said step of presenting an audio depiction in a first language and said step of presenting an audio depiction in a second language.

4. The method of presenting a first language and a second language of Claim 3 wherein, for each thing, said spelling of said word in said first language and said spelling of said word in a second language is presented on the same color background.

5. The method of presenting a first language and a second language of Claim 4 wherein said same color background changes as said thing of said video image changes.

6. The method of presenting a first language and a second language of Claim 5 wherein, for each said thing, said printed material presents said spellings of said words in a color background which matches said color background in said video image.

7. The method of presenting a first language and a second language of Claim 6 wherein said printed material includes a slider with said image of said thing which can selectively expose said spelling of said word in said first language or said spelling of said word in said second language.

8. The method of presenting a first language and a second language of Claim 1 further including a step of providing a coloring book with the images presented in the same order as said video image, with corresponding spelling of said words in said first language and said second language.

9. The method of presenting a first language and a second language of Claim 1 further including the step of providing a placemat with images and spellings of said words in said first language and said second language substantially corresponding to images and spellings presented in said coloring book.